

Kentucky

Tribune.

Devoted to News, Politics, Literature, Internal Imp

robement and General Information.

VOL. XIII.—NO. 43.

DANVILLE, KY., FRIDAY MORNING,

JUNE 6, 1856.

WHOLE NO. 667.

THE TRIBUNE.

Published every Friday, by
F. J. ZIMMERMAN & SON,
Office—Third street, north of Main.

TERMS.
Per annum, in advance, $2 00
Within six months, 1 50
At the end of the year, 3 00
No paper sent until all arrearages are paid, except at the option of the publishers.

ADVERTISING.
For each square of 12 lines or less, first insertion, $1 00
Each additional insertion, 50 cts.
For long advertisements, by special arrangement.
Announcing a candidate for any office, 1 00
Continuing same until election, 1 00
Announcement of death, 50 cts. per line.
A liberal discount made to yearly advertisers.

Advertisements of a personal character, charged double.
Notices of religious and Public Meetings, Marriages and Deaths, published free.
Obituary Notices, exceeding 12 lines in length, charged as advertisements.

JOB WORK
Of every description, promptly attended to in the best style, on reasonable terms.

SPRING IMPORTATION.

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!

J. L. & W. H. Waggener
ARE now receiving and opening their new stock of

Spring & Summer Goods,
Comprising all the elegant and fashionable styles of the season, together with a large supply of superior

STAPLE GOODS,
Both Linen and Cotton, of every description. They invite the particular attention of

THE LADIES
To their stock of Dress Goods, which will be found to equal, both in quality and beauty, any other assortment of such goods ever brought to this market. Also, a fine stock of

Shawls, Lace, Handkerchiefs,
Gloves, Hosiery, Blankets, &c., &c., &c.
Clothes, Carriages and Harnesses;
Summer Goods of all kinds, for men and boys; Queensware, Hardware, &c., &c., &c.
All of which they are determined to sell at prices which cannot fail to hold out inducements to purchasers. They invite everybody to call and see their Goods, whether they wish to buy or not.
J. L. & W. H. W.

SADDLE, HARNESS AND TRUNK

JOHN H. LINNEY,
(At the old stand of Linney & Wilson.)
Waggener has recently commenced the late firm of Linney & Wilson, and will continue the business in all its branches. He has now on hand a good stock, embracing

SADDLES,
Of every description, together with a general assortment of Carriage, Harness, Stage and Wagon

HARNESS,
Bridles, Collars, Martingales, Whips, Trunks, &c., &c., &c.
As he is constantly manufacturing, he is prepared to make to order, on short notice, any article which may be called for in his line. He solicits a continuance of the patronage extended to the old firm, and promises by strict attention to business, good workmanship and reasonable prices, to merit the confidence of his patrons.

Persons wishing to purchase, are invited to call and see for themselves, examine the quality of his work, and learn his prices, before buying elsewhere, as he feels confident of being able to suit them.

REPAIRING promptly attended to.
JOHN H. LINNEY,
Danville, Feb. 29, 1856

A NEW & LARGE STOCK

Drugs, Medicines, Books, Stationery, Fancy Articles, &c.

A. S. McGRORTY
HAS just received an unusually heavy stock of articles in his line of business, embracing a complete assortment of

DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Which he can recommend to Physicians and others as being a decidedly genuine and pure. He has also the largest stock of

BOOKS,
For Schools, Colleges, &c., ever brought to the place. Also, Miscellaneous Books, Stationery, Perfumery, Cutlery, and Fancy Articles in almost endless variety.

He is prepared as heretofore to sell a WHOLESALE to Druggists, Physicians, Wholesalers, &c., on the most favorable terms.
A. S. McGRORTY,
Danville, Oct. 25, 1855

CARPENTER'S LIVERY & SALE STABLES.

Adjoining the Central House, DANVILLE, KY.

THE subscriber desires to inform his friends and the public that he has taken the large and well arranged Stables connected with the Central House, where he will always keep a good supply of No. 1 Hacks, Buggies and Horses, for the accommodation of those who desire them.

Prompt attention will be given to the buying and selling of Horses for traders and others who may need his services in that line.

Horses Nicked and Broke to Harness or the Saddle, in the best manner.

Horses kept by the day, week or month, upon reasonable terms.

His very respectfully solicited a continuance of the very liberal patronage heretofore extended to him, pledging his exertions to render satisfaction in all cases.

G. G. CARPENTER,
Jan. 15, 1856

Original Poetry.

For the Kentucky Tribune.

TO ONE WHO WILL UNDERSTAND.

I'm sitting sad and lone, lady,
Dark thoughts are gathering fast,
I would that I could hush for aye
The memory of the past;
I would forget that I had loved,
I would forget that I had lost,
And from my heart I'd tear, lady,
All it has known of love.

But, O! I can't forget, lady,
Like shadows now they rise,
And one by one each hallowed scene,
Of love's before my eyes,
And every holy word of love,
Sounds clearly on my ear—
This thrilling heart declares, lady,
That still thou art too dear.

I never loved but thee, lady,
And never can love again—
I now must steer my bark alone,
O'er life's tempestuous main—
No angry thoughts against thee rise,
I urge no word of blame—
I could not hear thee now, lady,
Called by another's name.

Thou hast been many years, lady,
My star of destiny,
Whenever I see the thickening gloom,
My eye was turned to thee;
And still this promise seemed to come,
Dear one, that light at last
Should all be thine—but now, lady,
Such idle dreams are past.

For the Kentucky Tribune.

THE ROVER.

BY NICHOLAS LUMDEN.

Air—"Fugate."

How bright are our hopes on the deep billows
When we think of the joy that dwells in our
loves;

Amidst the bright rays of the summer sun,
But dearer to me is a white-flowering sail, Whom?

As o'er mountains of billows we proudly do
steer,
I love, Oh, I love the wild rover's career.

Though fortune may frown and tempests may
blow,
Yet my heart is the same wherever I go;

Let clouds lower above us and send their red
glare,
We seek not for comfort, but hardships to share,
As o'er mountains of billows, &c.

A bark is in view, and she looks like a prize,
Her sails kiss the wind, through the water she flies—
We strive to overtake her, but all is in vain,
Her course still keeps onward, far over the main.

Her course still keeps onward, far over the main,
As o'er mountains of billows, &c.

No sea gull ever swept with pinions more bright,
Than I do, in chasing the foe through the night.

At dawn we behold o'er the dark billows
glow—
All sails were unfurled, and like lightning she flew.

As o'er mountains of billows, &c.

Let Bill, fill the cup, boys, the land is in sight,
Let horns blow freely, we'll be there to-night,
Where true hearts are beating, that ever were
kind,
Whilst here to the light light that left us behind.

As o'er mountains of billows, we proudly do
steer,
I love, still I love, the wild rover's career.

Choice Miscellany.

A FATHER'S LESSON; OR,
A TALE OF DOMESTIC LIFE.

The young ladies were seated in a richly furnished apartment. They were the Misses Amanda and Emma Ellis, and Delilah Barton; the latter was engaged in the womanly occupation
of sewing, the former discussing, critically, a ball, at which all three had been present, the preceding evening.

"I don't like that Mr. Barton, at all," said
Miss Amanda, continuing the conversation.

"Nor I either," responded Miss Amanda, who was the eldest.

"But what cousin?" inquired Miss Delila-
h. "I am sure he is handsome enough, is he not?"

"Yes, but—"

"But what, coz?" said she to Emma, who had spoken last. "Surely his manners are pleasing
and his language polished—without affectation."

"Yes, yes, but for all that, he is vulgar," said
Emma pettishly, "vulgar in his ideas."

"Vulgar?" exclaimed Delilah, "you must allow me to differ with you, coz, he is continued, looking into her cousin's face, with a smile. "I think he is quite refined—more so than Mr. Pierce, or Mr. Brown, or Mr. Drummey,
and many other gentlemen of your acquaintance."

"Oh, think of comparing Mr. Barton with Mr. Pierce, or Mr. Brown—two gentlemen," exclaimed Miss Amanda. "Why, Mr. Barton is a mechanic!"

"Well, suppose he is," said her cousin, "does that make him vulgar, or less respectable? For my part, I think a mechanic can be as much of a gentleman, in the true sense of the word, as a millionaire."

"Well, I declare, cousin Lila, you do have some of the funniest notions, just like Pa; he thinks one man good as another, even though he
be a laborer."

"Yes," said Emma, "I do wish he would be a little more circumspect, and find better company for his daughters than mechanics. It is his fault that Mr. Barton comes here; he gives him such pressing invitations. I suppose he wants you, Amanda. Wouldn't it make a fine paragraph for the papers? Miss Amanda, (or Emma) daughter of James Ellis, merchant, to Mr. Charles Barton, mechanic. O, dear," said

the spoiled beauty, for both sisters possessed
great personal beauty, and threw herself back
upon the sofa, and laughed heartily, as also did
her sister.

"Well, well, girls," said Mr. Ellis, who, hidden by the half-opened door of the apartment,
had been an unobtrusive listener to the conversation, and now entered, "you may laugh now,
you may live to regret that you did not try to obtain Mr. Barton for a husband, mark that!"

And the old man took his hat and left the room.

"Who would have thought that Pa was listening?" said Amanda, "but I don't care."

"I declare, if there is not Mr. Barton on the sops!" exclaimed Emma, who was looking
through the blinds. "Come," she continued,
addressing her sister, "let us go up stairs to the
parlor, and leave cousin Lila to entertain him;
it will be a pleasure to her, for she is partial to
mechanics," and the sisters left the room.

When Delilah appeared at the dinner table
that day, many were the pleasing glances her cousins cast upon her. At last, unable to restrain their loved habit of teasing their cousin,
they spoke.

"I hope you spent a pleasant morning, cousin-
sister," said Amanda with a mock arch look.

"A very interesting one, sister, was it not?"
whispered Emma across the table.

"I spent the morning very pleasantly," said
Delilah, slightly blushing.

"O, I dare say," said Emma, sarcastically.
"Suppose he gave you a dissertation on mechanics, did he not?"

"Well, suppose he did?" said Mr. Ellis, who had been listening patiently, and in whose honored face, the color now rose. "Is it not better
that the senseless conversation of foppish, half-monks, who disgrace humanity?" And the old man cast a look upon his daughters, that made them quail beneath it.

"Oh! never mind, Lila," he continued in a milder tone, and putting his niece's arm round
her, "never mind, Mr. Barton is worth three or four of such would-be gentlemen as Mr. Pierce and Brown, in many ways than one." The last sentence he addressed to his daughters.

Days, weeks, and months rolled by, and Mr.
Barton had become a constant visitor at Mr.
Ellis'. It was very evident that he was paying particular attention to Miss Carlton, and plain to see that it was not unreciprocated. This fact furnished ample subject for the sisters' cascading remarks. As for their father, wherever they indulged in them in his presence, a knowing smile would play upon his face, and he said
they would some day wish they had obtained
Mr. Barton for a husband.

The object of the foregoing conversation was a young man who Mr. Ellis had introduced to his daughters and niece as a master mechanic.
But, unlike the father, who valued the man for his character, not for his money, the Misses Ellis were great sticklers for respectability—the consequence was, as we have seen, that Mr.
Barton did not stand any too high in their estimates. Mr. Ellis knew that a false estimate of respectability was a predominant fault in his daughters' character, and he determined to give them a practical lesson. How he succeeded, the sequel of our story will show.

A few moments after the sisters had left the room, Mr. Barton engaged. He was about the middle height, with a fine figure, regular features, and an intelligent countenance. He was certainly a handsome young man, which even
the Misses Ellis did not deny, and the ease and politeness with which he greeted Miss Carlton,
spoke his claim to that which that lady awarded him—the title of a gentleman. He was soon
seated and in conversation with Delilah.

Delilah Carlton was a charming girl; it is true that she did not exhibit the exquisite perfection and regular features of her two cousins,
but there was a sunny smile upon her face and
a cheerful sparkle in her light blue eyes, and
she had such light and bounding spirits, that
made her appear, if not as beautiful as her cousins,
at least more bewitching, so thought he,
would it be to possess her as a wife, dependent
as she is upon her uncle, and powerless as she would be then either of the Misses Ellis with their spoiled tempers and their fortunes. Thinking thus, it did not to be wondered at that he left
her with the half-formed determination to win
her love, if it lay within his power.

These things continued for some time. At length one morning about three months subsequent to the period when our story commenced,
Mr. Ellis entered the parlor, where his daughters were sitting, with a light step and sparkling eyes.

"Well, girls, what do you think of it?" said
he, rubbing his hands in glee.

"What?" asked both of the young ladies in a breath.

"The wedding we're going to have,"

"The wedding? What wedding?"

"Your cousin's."

"Delilah's?"

"Yes, he is going to honor the mechanic
with her hand and heart. What do you think of it?"

"I don't think much of it," said Emma with a toss of her head.

"Nor I," said Amanda.

"You don't? Well, I suppose if I should tell you she was going to marry a man worth two hundred thousand dollars, would that alter
your opinion?"

"Listen and I'll tell you all, girls," said the old man, bending upon his daughters a gaze
and somewhat stern look.

"The father of Mr. Barton, to whom your cousin is about to be married, was an old friend of mine, we were playmates in boyhood. He was appreciated to the carpenter's trade about the same time that I entered the counting-house—
Soon after he had finished learning his trade,
he went to Baltimore, and there he married—
Being possessed of genius, and having a good education, from a master mechanic and builder, he soon became an architect, and subsequently amassed a large fortune. Knowing the reverses
of fortune to which we are all liable, he determined to make his only son an architect, so that if the 'fickle dame' should desert him, he would have the wherewith to earn his daily bread.
He succeeded. A year or two ago he died, leaving his son his whole fortune—his wife being

dreadly dead, and Charles being the only child.
About six months ago, Charles came here on a visit. In the course of conversation, I asked why he was not married. He said he had never yet met with a young lady that he thought worthy of calling his wife; but he could find enough
that would marry. I told him I would introduce him to some of our city belles, and see if he could not find one among them. He said he required that I should conceal his wealth, and introduce him as a master mechanic. I acquiesced,
and knowing your false estimates of respectability I embraced the opportunity of teaching you a salutary lesson. I knew
when I brought him home and introduced him,
that neither of you would be his choice; because I was certain that neither of you could stoop so low as to marry a master mechanic, but the event which will take place I easily foresee—
Your cousin knew nothing of his wealth until to-day. I see you look surprised, but I did not tell you that he was worth two such ninety millions as Mr. Pierce and Mr. Brown, in more ways than one! And did not I tell you that you would be very soon day that you did not obtain him for a husband. Remember girls, that wealth is a false standard by which to judge
of respectability and worth. Not that a rich man may not be respectable, but that very often he who earns his daily bread by the sweat
of his brow is more of a gentleman than he who counts his thousands.

And they did remember it. For in after years they showed in their choice of husbands
that they had not forgotten their honest old father's lesson.

THINGS IN THE OLDEN TIME.—An article in
the Edinburgh Review, professing to draw its facts from Felt's History of Salem, gives the following ludicrous description of the way things
used to be done among the Puritans:

"The boys were ranged on the stairs of the meeting house, and a man was appointed to keep
people from sleeping by means of a short, clubbed stick, having at one end a knob and at the other a fox tail, with which he would stroke the women's faces, while they were asleep, and with the other would knock unruly dogs and men. In the same place, Salem, two men were appointed to mark down the non-attendances, in order to present them to the magistrate, while at the same time, three constables were appointed to keep watch, at the three doors of the meeting-
house, to prevent any one from going forth till
the exercises were finished."

"Circumstances alter Cases"

"Where's your husband, to night, Mrs.
Smith?"

"Massy only knows, Mrs. Brown; every night,
regular, as soon as he's milked the cow, and
done the chores, he stags off and don't come back till midnight or two o'clock."

"Just the way with my husband. I'll tell you what, I believe them Know-Nothings is at the bottom of it."

"So do I. I think it's a disgrace, and a shame, that they should entice honest men away
from their families in such a way."

"The next time the ladies met was the day after election day."

"Well, I declare, Mrs. Smith, if it don't beat
all! My husband is elected member of the Cincinnati Court, by the Know-Nothings."

"And mine is chosen Town Clerk—fifty majority."

"The all, Mrs. Smith, the Know-Nothings
are better than any of the other parties."

"That's a fact, Mrs. Brown. I really believe they have the good of their country at heart."

(Exit both)

Old and Even.

A sailor having purchased some medicine of
a celebrated doctor demanded the price.

"Why," says the doctor, "cannot think of charging you less than seven shillings and sixpence."

"Well, I tell you what," said the sailor, "take off the odd and I will give you the even."

"Well," replied the doctor, "we won't quarrel
about trifles."

The sailor then put down the six pence and said, "The doctor then said to the sailor, 'I will give you the even.'"

"No mistake at all, sir—six is even and seven
is odd, all the world over, so I bid you good morning."

"Be off," said the doctor, "it is a fall—but I've made fourteen out of you still."

A True Mirror.

A fellow was once brought before a magistrate on a charge of stealing. The moment the magistrate saw him, he exclaimed with valentine—

"I see the villain in your face."

"Never thought," said the prisoner, quite cool, "that my face was a looking-glass."

"Your looks alone should hang you, sir—
Many better men have hung."

"Guess not," said the prisoner, "and a few worse."

"Mind, John," said a father to his son,
"if you go out into the yard you will wish you
had stayed in the house."

"Well, if I stay in the house, I shall wish I
was out in the yard; so where is the difference, dad?"

"The editor of the Brunswick (Me.) Telegraph wants a suitable boy as an apprentice to
the printing business—'one who knows everything, smokes Spanish cigars, eats oyster ap-
pers, and goes fishing Sundays, not preferred.'"

Curious Directions for a Young Lady's Dress.

Let your earrings be Attention, encircled by the pearls of Refinement. Let the diamonds of your necklace be Truth, and the chain of Christianity. Let your bracelets be Charity, adorned with the pearls of Gentleness. Let your bosom pin be Modesty, set with Compassion.
Let your finger-rings be Affection, set with the diamonds of Industry. Let your girdle be simplicity, with a tassel of Good Humor. Let your garb be Virtue—your dressy Politeness. Let your shoes be Wisdom, secured with the buckles
of Perseverance.

New York Correspondence.

New York, May 26, 1856.

Masses, Parsons:

The General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church, both New and Old School are in session here, their proceedings seem to be generally harmonious. There was a slight ripple in the New School House by the submission of two reports on the "Constitutional power of the Assembly over the subject of slaveholding in the Churches." A committee of five was appointed
last year on this matter; four of them, Rev. Drs.
Albert Barnes, Asa D. Smith, Wm. Jessup, and Aug. P. Hassell signed the majority report, and one, Rev. Dr. Boyd, of Virginia, disagreed, and gave in a minority report. As the questions discussed are chiefly on minor points of discipline, the reports are not looked upon with any extraordinary interest. They are wire-drawn subtleties which do not touch the main subjects
at all.

Speaking of the venerable Presbyterian Church,
one is apt to revert to other specimens of antiquity. I mentioned in one of my letters that remarkable feature of Broadway, the "Old Apple Woman." Scarcely had that letter gone out,
when she died, and was taken to her long home.
She was a German by birth, and was once a woman of standing and regard, but that was
many years ago, and the present generation knew
her only as the decrepit, doubled up, wrinkled
peppier. Once on a time, too, she did the State
good service, which happened thus: While drying over her basket, on the steps of Stewart's old store, more than a dozen years ago, she heard a low conversation between two men standing near her. She could not see them without tearing, so she pretended to be asleep and listened. They were not particular definite, but from words and tone she was satisfied that a
house breaking operation and perhaps a murder
was on foot. As soon as they were gone she sent a little girl to "Old Hays," who was still High Constable, though almost too old to do active duty. He came, and heard her story and description of the men, whom she ventured to peep at as they were walking off. "Why, mother," said he, "they are two of the most notorious English burglars at large." In consequence of her revelations they were dogged, and two or three days after she was caught peeping up the silver ware in a house, the occupants of which were at Saratoga. He went to Sing Sing for seven years, and his companion, some two years
afterward, traveled the same road.

It is not only unsafe to speak of plans and plots without hearing distance of the most insignificant everywhere, but it is especially risky
in this city to attempt the common practice of cloaking your meaning in a foreign language.
New York is eminently cosmopolitan; German,
French, and Spanish are so commonly spoken
as to create no remark; Dutch, Danish or Portuguese are less heard, but are, by no means,
uncommon. Many ludicrous mishaps occur in consequence of this polyglot utterance, but they generally end harmlessly. The most laughable incident of recent occurrence was in the case of two springs of Shanghai who were lounging over the backs of their seats at the Opera, and, in most intolerable Italian, discussing the good points of a lady who sat in front of them. Her comments were not only free, but disgusting, so much so as to annoy the lady, and to rid herself of the nuisance she carelessly dropped her handkerchief at the feet
of the puppets. Both seized the capital opportunity, and simultaneously presented it, saying,
in English of course, "Madam, allow me the pleasure." Imagine their feeling when she,
looking them sharply in the face, returned her
thanks in perfect Italian, adding that it lent
an additional interest to the Opera to be seated
in the neighborhood of such attentive and polite gentlemen. You may guess that the fellows heard precious little music after that. In five minutes they were swearing over the affair at the bar of the Union Place Hotel, but not in barbarous Italian. The reader may append as a moral, that of all the tongues a man can learn,
the only one always reliable is "a civil tongue."

We are soon to have the second and concluding volume of Col. Benton's "Thirty Years' View," a work of rare value to all who desire
to be properly informed of the political history
of this country. His reminiscences are invaluable, and will of course have an immense sale.

There was a miracle happened here the other day which I think deserves record. The Common Council voted, without being asked to do
so, to increase the salary of a city officer from $2,000 to $5,000 per year—and the man absolutely refused to take it. Your wonder, however, will be materially modified, when I tell you that this singular genius was Joseph C. Flagg, City Comptroller. He is a practical reformer of expenses, and almost the only one in the army
of officers paid from the city treasury.

The meeting in the Park, on Friday evening,
to sympathize with Gen. Walker, and the causes of Nicaragua was a formidable affair as far as numbers and enthusiasm are concerned.
The announcement that Frank Yount, the new Nicaraguan Minister, who is sojourning for a few days in the city, would make a speech on the occasion, helped, perhaps, to swell the throng. As is usually the case in regard to public meetings in New York, the array of speakers actually on the stand was rather small
and insignificant compared with the announcements in the bills. Padre Viji did not make his appearance in the Park. So about 9 o'clock in the evening the meeting broke up and marched in procession with music to the Metropolitan Hotel—the temporary headquarters of the Niaraguan Embassy. Here they formed in one compact mass, numbering several thousands. The Reverend Ewyson made his appearance, accompanied by his Secretary of Legation. Having been introduced, he made, through his interpreter, an address, thanking the curious
crowd for their sympathy and regard, when they quietly dispersed.

The exciting news from Kansas and the recent
scenes of violence at Washington are the engrossing topics of conversation in the city just
now. In regard to the Kansas business, there is a wide diversity of opinion as to which party
if either is in the right; but the assault on Mr.
Sumner appears to be universally deplored and condemned.

THE TRIBUNE. DANVILLE, KY. Friday, June 6, 1896. Democratic National Convention. "NOISE AND CONFUSION." A ROW TO BEGIN WITH.

At a quarter before twelve, at the signal of the firing of the cannon, the convention commenced to assemble, and was called to order at twelve o'clock by R. McLean, of Maryland; Richardson, of Illinois, nominated Samuel M. May, of Ohio, as temporary chairman, which was carried unanimously. Hall, of Massachusetts, called for the reading of the call for the convention. While the call was being read by Mr. English, of Indiana, a sudden uproar commenced at the door of the convention, when the crowd rushed into the hall lighting amidst the din and confusion, when it was discovered that it was the Benton delegation from Missouri, resolved to enter by violence, knocking down the doorkeeper and rushing in, headed by ex-Governor Price. For a few minutes a scene of confusion impossible to describe ensued. Members were jumping over chairs, and a riot seemed as though a serious riot was about to take place. After awhile quiet was restored, and the reading of the call proceeded with.

A temporary organization was effected, by choosing Sam Medary, Esq., temporary chairman, and Clithero, of Ala., and Ritchie, of Va., temporary Secretaries. Richardson, of Illinois, arose, said he did not desire to interfere in the quarrels of States, but the Convention owed it to itself, its dignity and propriety, that no person should be allowed to force an entrance to the hall, by overpowering the doorkeeper. The Convention should protect itself from violence and insult.

Mr. Hall, of Missouri, one of the Delegates who forced the door, arose. The Chairman refused to recognize him. The gentleman must present his grievances to the Committee on credentials.

Mr. Hall made an effort to speak, but was interrupted by cries of order. Mr. Price, of Mo., rose and said the delegation submitted to the decision of the chair and at once withdrew.

Mr. Beckof, of Va., called attention to the fact that Missouri's seats were contested, and Missouri had been allowed to appoint committee.

No member consequently withdrew. A committee of one from each State was appointed to report permanent officers, rules for organization etc.; and some other unimportant business was done, when the convention adjourned, at 3 o'clock, until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The greatest confusion, uproar, noise and excitement prevailed during the entire session.—It was a miniature pandemonium let loose.

SECOND DAY. CINCINNATI, June 3.

The convention was called to order at half past 10 o'clock.

John L. Dawson, of Penn., from the committee on permanent organization, reported the following names:

President—John E. Ward, of Georgia. Vice Presidents—Jno. Smith, of Maine, C. L. Woodbury, of N. H., J. P. Kiddler, of Vt., H. H. Childs, of Mass., P. W. Gardner, of R. I., J. G. Pratt, of Conn., John L. Darcy, of N. J., John L. Hutcheson, of Pa., Edw. Hammond, of M. I., W. S. Ross, of Del., Thos. C. Lyon, of Tenn., Robt. K. Banks, of Va., Bedford Brown, of N. C., B. Wilson, of S. C., W. L. Lewis, of Ga., R. Chapman, of Ala., J. M. Balfour, of Ohio, M. E. Crawford, of Mich., Levi Tyler, of Kentucky, Wm. Rockhill, of Ind., Joel A. Matteson, of Ill., J. S. Rame, of Ark., D. D. Berry, of Mo., S. R. Mallory, of Florida; Matt. Ward, of Texas; H. T. Walling, of Iowa; Nelson Dewey, of Wis.; and J. H. Hill, of California.

Thirty-one secretaries were appointed. The announcement of the President's name was received with great applause.

On motion of Mr. Rockhill, of Indiana, the report was unanimously adopted and John L. Dawson conducted the president to the chair.

A motion to admit the delegates from the District of Columbia to the floor was debated and laid on the table.

It was announced amid great rejoicing that the Democrats had elected the Mayor and Council of Washington city.

Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, from the Committee on Credentials, reported on the Missouri case, admitting the anti-Benton delegates (Cheer). Adopted.

It was announced that the Committee is engaged on the New York case, and would report as soon as possible.

The Committee was allowed to sit during the session of the Convention.

A long and warm debate ensued on the admission of outsiders, and several resolutions having that subject in view were tabled amidst the direct confusion.

On motion, the committee of arrangements were authorized to appoint two assistant sergeants-at-arms.

The hall of the Young Men's Democratic Association was offered for the use of the convention, if thought preferable to the one in use. An invitation was also extended from the Horticultural Society.

A delegate from Connecticut moved to accept the offer of the Young Men's Democratic Association. He had been in that hall, and could assure the members it could hold nearly double the number this hall can hold. Several gentlemen with weak voices spoke there last night and were distinctly heard. He would say, too, that on that occasion the Democracy of Cincinnati in that hall showed themselves far more orderly than the Democracy of the Union do here.

The motion was referred to the Committee of Arrangements. Referred till 4 o'clock P. M.

From the Cincinnati Columbian, of the 30th.

THE PROSPECTS. As we have already announced, the prospects of Buchanan seem to be decidedly the best. His friends, many of them are sanguine that they can make such a demonstration on the first ballot as will elect him in his early nomination. They predict that they will be able to poll from a hundred and thirty to a hundred and forty votes for him on the first ballot. One hundred and forty-nine will give him a majority, but under the two-thirds rule a hundred and ninety-eight votes will be required to nominate him. If it is impossible to secure the nomination without, many of his friends will go in for the abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

WHO ARE PIERCE'S FRIENDS? Does anybody know? There are a large number of delegates elected who were supposed to be Pierce men, but who are very quiet, though their votes will undoubtedly be given to the President. He will receive a tolerably large complimentary vote; but both his friends and foes will be very sure to see that it is not large enough to nominate him. The same two-thirds rule that nominated Mr. Pierce in '52, will defeat him in '56. There is little doubt, however, that many of those who first chose Pierce or Douglas, will be ready to unite on almost any other candidate to defeat Buchanan.

FROM THE NEWSPAPER OF THE 4TH. THE CROWD INCREASING. The crowd is increasing. All the trains last night and this morning, have come in very heavily loaded, and thousands of persons from the country, within a few miles of Cincinnati, have come into town to-day, to see the great Democratic Menagerie in all its glory.

THE PROSPECTS—DOUGLAS STOCK RISING. Douglas stock has gone up decidedly during the night, and that of Buchanan has received proportionate depression. The friends of "Little Dog" are in better spirits to-day, than they have been at any prior period since the gathering commenced.

Later from Nicaragua.

NEW YORK, June 2. The Orizaba has arrived from San Juan with 450 passengers from California, brought down by the Sierra Nevada.

The Orizaba brings Nicaragua dates to the 29th. The transit route through Nicaragua is again open and quiet, and the Costa Ricans are evacuating the country without risking another battle. President Mora left with his staff on the 26th of April. His army followed almost immediately.

The cholera has made sad havoc in the ranks of the Costa Rican army. Gen. Walker landed at Virgin Bay on the 18th, only a few hours after the last detachment of the enemy left.

Walker was in good health. The Nicaraguan army generally was in good condition, excepting at Granada. There, fever had been very severe, several Americans had fallen victims to it.

Gen. James Walker, brother of the General, died on the 15th ult. at Masaya. Edmund Randolph was dangerously ill.

Gen. Hornby has been appointed to the command of the Meridional Department, comprising Guana, Costa, and Rivas.

Advocates Granada from Costa Rica intimate that the country is full of internal commotion, with a prospect of the overthrow of Gen. Mora.

The elections are being held in Nicaragua. It is considered certain that Rivas would be elected President.

The British frigate Eurydice and steamer Hermes were at San Juan, but they made no opposition to the landing of the passengers.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—Mr. Lewis Holman, of this county, was shot with a rifle, and instantly killed, on Monday last, near Salvia, by a man named Rickman, who committed suicide immediately thereafter by drowning himself in the Kentucky river. The murdered man was passing Rickman's residence on horseback, in company with another man, when he was shot without a moment's warning. The provocation that led to this horrible affair is unknown; the parties had long been close neighbors, and no difficulty had ever before occurred between them.

Rickman fled in the direction of the river, where his body was afterwards found, attached by a rope to a skiff, a very clever precaution to prevent the trouble of dragging the river in search of the corpse, which it is hoped will hereafter be imitated by all considerate gentlemen who contemplate suicide by drowning.—Herald-Poughkeepsie.

GOING TO ENGLAND.—Mr. R. Tenbrook's celebrated race-horse, Lecompte, Prior, (recently known by the name of Poin), and Etiquette, a three year old colt by Marineur out of Fashion, left this city on Tuesday last for New York, whence it is expected they will be taken by their spirited owner to England, to contend for the honors of the turf with the best blood of that country.

Lexington Observer. We understand that Dr. E. Warfield has sold his fine gelding Waxy, the winner of the two-mile race on Tuesday last in the finest consecutive heats of two miles ever run over the course, for $1,250.

Waxy is a superior race-horse, five years old, by Buford (a horse raised by Dr. W.), and out of the dam of Lexington. He was sold to a gentleman in Texas.

Lex. Observer. We regret to learn that the fine new brick dwelling-house and adjacent buildings of Mr. Sumner Halley, in Scott county, 10 miles from Lexington, on the Lexington and Frankfort railroad, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning last. The work of destruction was complete, the house and nearly all its contents being consumed.—Lex. Obs.

Santa Anna, the ex-Dictator of Mexico, is living in great style at Tabasco, four miles from Carlhagen, in New Granada, South America. He is said to be worth $4,000,000.

A man knows no more to any purpose than he practices.

COUNTY OF ROWAN.—The new county of Rowan has been fully organized under the law, all the officers having been duly elected on the day named in the statute. On the 18th inst., the county court met at Morehead and organized all the officers executing bond designated by the Legislature as the county seat, the court ordered a sale of lots, which takes place on the Monday next. The town is pleasantly situated on the line of the Big Sandy railroad.

COUNTERFEIT.—We learn that the mountain region of this State is flooded with counterfeit one dollar bills on the Bank of Kentucky, made payable at Danville. They will probably find their way into this part of the State. The bill may be easily detected by the fact, that the face of Clay at the top of the bill is not good, and too dark, and in the counterfeit there is a dark shading around the letters in the word "Danville," while in the genuine there is no shading. The shading around the letters in the line, "The Bank of Kentucky," is too heavy and dark. The bill is altogether darker than the genuine and the paper bad, but would deceive those who are not judges.

A terrible tornado recently occurred in Dallas county, Texas. It destroyed the entire premises of Mr. Miller, a Merchant of Pleasant Run, killing his partner, his clerk a woman and two children. There were also four other persons killed in the immediate neighborhood, making nine in all, and six or eight wounded. The tornado tended about sixteen miles north and south, being two hundred to three hundred yards in width. Over this tract, the tornado swept, carrying away or destroying every thing in its course; killing horses, cattle, hogs and other animals.

THE STATE COUNCIL OF OHIO.—The new State Council of National Americans of Ohio convened at Columbus on the 27th inst. We have received reports of the first day's proceedings. Four hundred Councils were represented. It is reported that the work of organizing new Councils goes bravely on in every portion of the State. Harmony, enthusiasm, and confidence of success characterized the proceedings. An electoral ticket was announced, pledged to the support of Fillmore and Doolittle.

Wm. K. Morton, formerly a distinguished banker in Cincinnati, died in New York on Tuesday, of congestion of the lungs.

A Foundry in Nashua, New Hampshire, has just received an order for 130 stoves, to go to Turkey.

BARGAINS AT PRIVATE SALE. FROM $9,000 TO $12,000 WORTH OF DRY GOODS, AT EASTERN COST!

BEING desirous to close out my present stock of Goods as cheaply as possible, I will, until the first of August next, sell positively

AT COST, FOR CASH. My stock is very large and well assorted, embracing all the latest styles of LADIES' DRESS GOODS: Silks, Serges, Lawns, DeLaines, Gingham, Cambrics, Muslins, and a superior variety of handsome Prints. Also, Embroideries, Ribbons, and Trimmings of every description.

LINEN GOODS: Towels, Napkins, Doilies, Irish Linens, Sheetings, &c.; Brown and Bleached Cottons; Heavy Stripes and other Goods for Servants; Linen and Cotton Goods of every variety; for Men and Boys; Cloths, Cassimeres, and Vestings. Hats, Caps, and Bonnets. A very large and superior stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES, of fashionable styles, for Ladies, Misses, Gentlemen, Boys, Children, and Servants. Also, a handsome lot of Carpets and Oil Cloths, of various patterns and of excellent quality. As I am determined to reduce my stock, I can confidently assure buyers that I will positively sell at cost! No one will be deceived. Those who wish to buy Goods very cheap, are invited to call and examine my stock, and as certain the low prices at which I am selling.

L. DIMMITT. Danville, May 30, '96. if

A RARE CHANCE For the better quality of Goods AT COST.

WISHING to reduce our present STOCK OF GOODS to the lowest possible point, in order to be prepared for an early importation of FALL GOODS, we have determined to Sell our present stock, Until July 1st, 1896, AT COST!

In coming to this determination, we intend doing just what we say. We therefore invite our customers, and the public generally, to call and get whatever we have.

AT COST FOR CASH! S. & E. S. MESSICK. May 20, '96

ROBT. J. BRECKINRIDGE, Attorney & Counsellor at Law LEXINGTON, KY. OFFICE on Short street, between Limestone and Upper. May 23, '96. if IMPORTED JACKS AND JENNETS At Public Sale!

THE subscriber will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Tuesday, the 10th of June, 1896, 10 Jacks and 6 Jennets.

This stock has recently been imported from Spain and is considered one of the finest ever brought to the country. The animals are from six months to four years old, and the Jacks measure from 14 to 15½ hands in height. The sale will be made at the stables of Wm. McCracken, attached to the Phoenix Hotel, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

They will be sold on a credit of 4 and 12 months, equal payments, upon the execution of negotiable notes, with approved security. Such an opportunity of buying superior stock is rarely presented.

CELESTEN DUPUY. Lexington, May 30, '96. $1.39

SECOND SPRING IMPORTATION OF DRY GOODS.

Boots, Shoes, &c., &c. WE are now receiving our second importation of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, for the Spring and Summer of 1896, among which will be found a very large and splendid assortment of all new and desirable styles of both Foreign and American Goods. Embracing the latest patterns received within the last few weeks in the Eastern cities. We have also received large additions to our stock of Boots and Shoes; Hardware, Queensware, Groceries, &c.; to all of which we invite the attention of purchasers, as we intend to put them at low prices.

WELSH & NICHOLS. 47 Constantly on hand Camellins, Penn Mills, and other favorite brands Brown Sheetings, at the lowest prices. W. & N. May 30, '96

CARPETS—CARPETS. NEW STOCK At Welsh and Nichols.

JUST received, the largest stock of Carpeting ever brought to Danville, a great variety of new and beautiful styles. They are going rapidly—call before they are all sold.

WELSH & NICHOLS. May 30, '96

"I BOUGHT FROM HEWEY."

WHO sells the best Confectionery? J. C. HEWEY. Who has the largest stock of Toys and Novelties? HEWEY. Who keeps the best assortment? HEWEY.

Who has facilities for transacting business at short notice? HEWEY. Do you wish a first-class article? Buy of J. C. HEWEY. Do you study Economy? Buy of HEWEY.

Would you be satisfied with your purchases? Buy of HEWEY. Would you have your Goods warranted? Buy of J. C. HEWEY.

Who has the finest, cheapest, and best assortment of Soap? HEWEY. Are you tired to please? Call on J. C. HEWEY.

What house is open to fair competition? Who has the best interests of Danville at heart? J. C. HEWEY. May 30, '96. if

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE!

I WISH to sell the house and lot lying immediately west of my residence. The house is now occupied as the office of Pawling & Bosley. The lot is a large one, about seventy feet on Main street, running about two hundred feet back. Any person, desiring to purchase will examine the premises. It will be sold on liberal terms.

WM. PAWLING. Danville, May 23, '96. 1m

REFRIGERATORS.

JUST received, a lot of Marsh's Patent Refrigerators, which I offer for sale low, strictly for cash.

G. W. COLLINS. May 16, '96

INK.

JUST received a large and superior lot of J. Mason's Red, Blue, and Black Inks, for sale at

T. J. SHINDELBOWER'S. 2,000 LBS. of Assorted Candy; 3,000 LBS. Assorted Nuts; 400 lbs. Assorted Nuts; 450 lbs. Maple Sugar—for sale at

SHINDELBOWER'S. Fresh Oranges and Lemons, Just received and for sale at

SHINDELBOWER'S. IMPORTED CIGARS. 20,000 Primers Marine Cigars, 2,000 Regalia Havana " 3,000 Lancetta " 2,500 Regalia Medallion " 10,000 Half-Spanish Cigars, for sale at SHINDELBOWER'S. JUST received, Green and Black Teas, of extra quality, which I will warrant to be superior.

L. DIMMITT. May 16, '96

CLASSICAL SCHOOL, CENTRE COLLEGE.

Will open its Summer Session on the First Monday in June next, in McKee's Building, on Fourth street. The course of instruction will embrace all the Latin, Greek, and Mathematics necessary to prepare students for admission into the Freshman class of Centre College.

Terms per Session of Sixteen Weeks—(including janitor's wages, etc.) $13.00 Tuition invariably in advance. No deduction for absence, except in cases of protracted sickness or special agreement. Pupils entering after the second week will be charged in proportion to the portion of the session remaining.

SAM. MCKEE, Principal. Danville, May 16, '96. 6t

Fresh Oranges and Lemons, Just received at HEWEY'S. COVE and Spiced Oysters, Sardines, Fresh Peaches and Strawberries, Ginger Preserves, and Lobsters, Pickles and Sauces, for sale by J. C. HEWEY.

Choice Tobacco and Cigars, Can be found at HEWEY'S.

NOTICE. MY accounts are always due, and I wish every one owing me to "SQUARE UP." As it is a bad rule that won't work both ways, I extend the invitation to any persons that I may owe.

J. C. HEWEY. May 16, '96

Dr. J. B. WHITE

HAVING located himself in Danville, respectfully tenders his services to the citizens of the town and surrounding country in the practice of Medicine, Surgery, and Obstetrics. Particular attention paid to the medical and surgical treatment of Chronic Diseases, Especially those of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, Chronic Affections, Rheumatism, Paralytic and Neuralgic Affections, General Debility—the various affections of the Throat and Lungs, including the first and second stages of Consumption; also all the chronic affections peculiar to the Female sex.

It is now becoming a recognized point by a large number of medical writers, that Consumption is as curable as the most of other chronic diseases, when appropriately treated. It is completely and permanently cured in its first or forming stages, there is scarcely a doubt. All, then, who are threatened with Consumption, should take early warning, and make immediate application before the disease has set up, so that stage readers its curability quite uncertain. We repeat, that it is curable, and permanently so, previous to ulceration, but afterwards is susceptible to attack only, but may be permanently arrested in a large majority of cases, and the general health placed upon a good and permanent foundation.

As our mode of treating chronic affections, and especially those of the lungs, is somewhat peculiar, and as we desire no one's money without a fair remuneration, we offer the privilege to any one for a few days, free of charge, to test the merits of the treatment, after which they can continue or withdraw at will, in any of the above mentioned diseases, or any other chronic affections that may be presented for treatment.

I have also been practicing the WATER CURE TREATMENT for 12 years, and will continue to practice that system, in all cases where it is desired, or is considered appropriate, either separately or in conjunction with the alternative forms of Medical treatment—at the residence of families, either in the town or neighborhood. For the benefit of those at a distance who wish to take that form of treatment, I would say that board can be had either in the town or vicinity, at fair and reasonable rates.

Persons who desire it can be referred to persons who have been my patients in this place and vicinity.

All letters from a distance will be promptly responded to. No charge in any case for consultation unless actual treatment is entered upon.

OFFICE—Upstairs, over Stout's Drug Store, in Dr. Jackson's building. J. B. WHITE, M. D. Danville, May 16, 1896. if

Dr. Banning's Card.

THOSE desirous of arresting Spinal Curvature, Languor of Hips and Shoulders, with Hollowness of the Chest, Roundness of the Shoulders, with Prominence of the Shoulder Blades, or are suffering from Vocal, Pulmonary, or Digestive Weakness, and particularly those afflicted with Pain or Weakness of the Back, Palpitation of the Heart, Constipation, Piles, Rupture, or any of the Female Diseases and Weaknesses, now so alarmingly prevalent, are informed that Mr. S. E. FARRAND & HIS LADY are Agents for the sale and proper fitting of

Dr. Banning's Chest, Lung, and Shoulder Brace; Stomach or Abdominal Brace; Radiant Cure Rupture and Pile Brace; Hunch Back Support, and Spinal Lever.

All of which adaptations are at once light, cool, beautiful, and easy to wear—acting as a perfect substitute for the corset, without its injurious consequences; giving strength, beauty, and grace to the form and bearings of the body.

may 2, '96. if

HANDKERCHIEF EXTRACTS.

A CHOICE selection of the above named Perfumes can be found at

J. C. HEWEY'S. SOAPS of all kinds and prices, for sale at HEWEY'S.

TEA. Green and Black Teas.

300 LBS. Gunpowder, Oolong, and Imperial Tea, for sale by J. C. HEWEY.

may 23, '96. if

Mowers and Reapers.

I KEEP constantly for sale, Ketchum's Patent Mowers and Reapers, both good and well tested Machines. Those in want of such articles, will please give me a call.

G. G. CARPENTER. may 2, '96

BURNETT'S Superior Flavoring Extracts.

The superiority of the above named Extracts consists in their Perfect Purity and Great Strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market.

These Extracts are not only true to their name, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used. Hence it will be perceived that they are cheaper than others which are sold in larger bottles. For sale by

J. C. HEWEY. Confectioner. may 23, '96.

Sale Money Due!

THE notes given for Property bought at the sale of the Personality of Wm. Hall's estate, are now due, and those concerned are requested to come forward and make payment.

THOS. BARBEE, Adm'r. may 9, 1896. if

WATER COOLERS.

JUST received a beautiful assortment of mechanical Water Coolers, with or without Filters. Also Water Filters, separate, which are celebrated for purifying water, and rendering it entirely clear. For sale by

G. W. COLLINS. may 16, '96

JESSAMINE FARM FOR SALE.

I WISH to sell my wife's portion of NETTLE RIDGE FARM, (the residence of Mrs. R. S. McClure), Containing 625 Acres. It is situated twelve miles from Lexington and five miles from Nicholasville, on the road from the latter to the mouth of Isaac Creek.

For further particulars, apply to ISAAC SHELBY. April 25, 3m—Obs. & Rep.

WATER COOLERS, ICE CREAM FREEZERS &c.

I HAVE just received a variety of elegant Water Coolers of different styles and sizes for sale low. Also, on hand, various sizes of Ice Cream Freezers, together with Stoves and Tinware, of every description.

I. R. ERKEL. may 23, '96.

YOUR ATTENTION!

ALL persons indebted to me by note or account on last year's business, are informed that I positively can wait no longer upon them. I hope they will call immediately and make payment.

In future, my accounts will be considered due two years—on the last day of January and July, at which time they will be presented for payment.

I. R. ERKEL. may 23, '96.

TWO WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA!!

THE U. S. Mail Steamship, George Law, arrived at New York on Wednesday last from Apia, bringing intelligence that the prospect for a Gold harvest is better in California than it has been for years. This accounts for the low prices of the New and Magnificent

STOCK OF JEWELRY, Just received by express at T. R. J. AYRES', to which he invites the special attention of persons wishing anything in that line. The public will find stock at hand, for durability and style unsurpassed in any market; consisting in part of Gem, Jet, and Gold-Set Mosses, Brooches and Rings, Fingerings, Bracelets, Lockets, Chains; Gold and Silver Thimbles; Sticks; Shave Buttons; First Gold Pens and Pencils; Guard, Chain, and Fob Chains; Charms; Gold and Silver Caskets; Gold and Silver Watches; Keys, Rosets, Tea, and Table Spoons; Ice-Tongs, Butter Knives, &c., &c.

THOS. R. J. AYRES Danville, May 16, 1896. if

REMOVAL. DR. J. B. WHITE

HAS removed his office to Dr. Jackson's building, second story, over Mr. Wm. M. Stout's Drug Store.

THOS. Z. MORROW, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, DANVILLE, KY.

Will practice in the Courts of Boyle and the adjoining counties. Particular attention given to the collection of claims.

Office with Hon. J. F. Fann, on Main street. May 9, 1896. if

A VERY DESIRABLE FAMILY RESIDENCE FOR SALE.

I WISH to dispose of the RESIDENCE, which I now occupy, situated on 4th street, Danville, Ky. To those who are not acquainted with the location and quality of this property, I would say that, on several accounts, it is one of the most desirable locations to be found in the city. The house is of brick and is large and commodious in every respect, having ten first rate rooms, besides kitchen and servant's apartments, all built in the very best manner. From the foundation up, also a first rate brick smoke-house, and ice-house, ample cellars, the very best kind of stables and carriage-house, and every fixture necessary for comfort and convenience—all new. There is about ½ of an acre of ground in the lot. Any person wishing to purchase property of the above description can get a bargain by calling on

W. I. MOORE. Danville, April 18, '96. if

J. B. WILGUS & CO., LEXINGTON, KY.

100 BBL'S Prime Brown Sugar, in store and for sale by J. B. WILGUS & Co.

40 Baskets Fine Champagne Wine, just received and for sale by J. B. WILGUS & Co.

100 BBL'S Prime Rio Coffee, in store and for sale by J. B. WILGUS & Co.

WHISKEY.—280 bbls. in store and sale by LEWIS & CARY.

Danville, Ky.
Sept 14, 1855

J. B. McNEILL.

March county court day—
W. M. THOMPSON.

Cheese, White Fish, &c.
 BEST quality of Cheese—fine White F
 and Mackerel, at
 apr 25 S1111 L BOWERS

Shoes for Ladies, Gentlemen, Men
and children. Also, superior home-made shoes
for sale at L. DIMMITT'S.
april 13, '55 tf

and black; Hair Oil; Lip Balm Perfum
H. HAMILTON

OF superior quality, always to be had at Family Grocery and Produce Store of
J. C. M'KA